But we have ventured to give it publication simply with a view to place it before the general public owing to the demand of several friends. It is needless to expatiate upon the magical qualities of our invaluable medicine. We would not like to blow the trumpet as is the fashion of the day, but suffice it to say that the use of this medicine is recommended to those who have any faith in the efficacy of Ayurvedic and Unani medicines. We recommend it also to those persons who desire to tone up the nervous system to strengthen the body, refresh the memory and to guard against debility. It works like a charm and the effect is lasting. It restores strength and it is enough to say that musk is not that which a perfumer admires, it is that which diffuses fragrance of its own accord. Price per tin containing 40 pills, Rupees ten only. Postage extra. No PAPHEZ necessary.

STANDARD BAROMETER READING.

The following information is published in order that vessels in the Bombay Harbour may by comparison with a standard instrument ascertain the errors of their barometers:—

The reading of the Standard Barometer in the Colaba Observatory corrected for index error and reduced to 80 deg. F. and to the level of the tide at 8-45 a.m. Standard Time, on the 2nd June, 1917, was 29.857 inches. For temperature corrections applicable to mercurial barometer of ships the reading of the ship's barometer has to be increased or decreased by .013 inch for every 5 degrees according as the temperature of the attached thermometer is respectively below or above 80 deg. F. In case of the aneroid no temperature correction is needed. But for comparison at 80 deg. F. all aneroid readings should be increased by .138 inch. For correcting the ship's barometer either mercurial or aneroid for the height of the barometer cistern above the tide level in the stream at 8-45 a.m., Standard Time, the ship's barometer reading should be increased by .010 inch for every 10 feet of the height to make it comparable with the observatory barometer reading given.

BOMBAY MARKETS.

COTTON.

(From our Commercial correspondent.)

BOMBAY, June 22.

Another extraordinary advance took place in Liverpool during the past week. In two days the market jumped 209 points for July-August, and on the following day, after some rapid fluctuations resulting in a further rise of 10 points, the Liverpool market was temporarily closed "owing to the recent sensational movements." It is understood that the closing of the market was due to Government intervention pending a consultation with the Board of Trade on the situation. Such an advance as above recorded must have completely disorganized the market and the cotton trade, and under the circumstances, the closing of the market was by far the best course to adopt. It is uncertain for how long the Liverpool cotton market will remain closed, but no doubt some means will be found to avoid a repetition of the sensational movements which have recently startled the whole cotton world. Fresh rules as to business will undoubtedly be made, and the trade put on a better footing. For the present certain prices have been fixed for the liquidation of contracts only.

In New York the advance was due to sympathy with the rise in Liverpool, but was in no way in proportion thereto. Up to Tuesday the advance in the July position was 128 points against 209 points in Liverpool, but on Wednesday there was a drop of 82 points in New York when the Liverpool market closed, so that up to Wednesday the difference on the week in New York was only 46 points higher.

The local market has been erratic, the lowest point touched for Fine Broach July being Rs. 498 on Saturday last, and the highest Rs. 517 yesterday morning. The advance in Liverpool, beyond giving a temporary firmness to prices, left us unmoved. There has been no strength in the market, the buying power has been small, and sellers have generally had the best of it. Business has mostly dragged, and until the enquiry improves we are likely to see quiet irregular markets, with possibly a tendency towards lower prices. With regard to the different descriptions of Old and New Crops, the comparisons with rates last week are variable but all show a decline. Fine Broach July this morning was Rs. 507. Closing quotations are given below.

For ready cotton there has been some falling off in the enquiry, and at times the market has been quiet. Neither Japanese exporters nor local mills have been keen buyers, and the daily turnover has only been moderate. Holders have so far been firm and disinclined to make any material reduction in rates.

On the whole the progress of the monsoon is satisfactory, and though the rainfall has not been heavy it has been widely distributed. More rain is now required.

BULLION.

The silver market was quiet but steady throughout the week and a fair amount of business was put through. Calcutta speculators have sold to a fair extent in Bombay. Large quantities of silver are expected from San Francisco by the end of July, presumably for the financing of the Jute crop. The stock is estimated at about 2,800 bars, and offtake is at an average of about 25 bars a day. At the close the market is uncertain. Gold has been quiet and sovereigns were placed from Rs 15-2-6 to Rs. 15-3-0.

SHARES.

The share market was very steady during the early part of the week but eased off towards the close owing to profit taking and speculative sales. The undertone of the market however continues to be good in view of the good profits which almost all industries are making.

Standards were placed at prices varying from 1627/8 to 1607/8, Madhavjees from 1840 to 1820, but closed at 1835, Indore Malwas from 403/12 to 387/8.

Nagpurs declined to 2320. Advance to 900. Crescents to 195, Currimbhoys to 295. Fazulbhoys to 660. Indian Bleaching to 267/8. Pearls to 460, Simplex to 655, and Swadeshis to 1670.

Tata Iron Ordinary shares are quoted at 241/4, and Deferreds declined to 960. Katni Ordinary shares declined to 232/8, and Deferred to 915.

Alcock Ashdowns were quoted at 857/8. Bombay Burmas at 980. Bombay Tramways at 322/8, and Tata Hydros declined to 1.130.

In Railway shares there was nothing doing.

PIECE-GOODS.

BOMBAY, June 22.

A generally firm tone has prevailed in the Cloth Market during the past week, but here and there a slight reaction was noticeable at the beginning in some standard cloths, due to the arrival of heavy shipments of goods per s.s. Massilia. The easier tendency, however, was checked by the further sensational rise in the raw material which has been gaining strength day by day. Speculative transactions have again resulted amongst the dealers, and brokers have had a lively time. Clearances have been healthy. There is undoubtedly an urgent demand for certain cloths at the present time, and those cloths that are light in stock, fetch exceptionally high values. Prints are also in good demand and the original chocolate styles are selling at over 8 annas per yard.

The Manchester Market has firmed up a good deal in sympathy with the abnormal advance in the price of cotton. Makers of heavy cloths are presenting a firmer front to buyers. Manufacturers of fancy and special cloths are more favourably situated than standard makes. Contracts of other makers are running down without fresh orders coming round to follow on. Shippers are aware of the risk which is attached to business which may be done at the moment and are rather discouraging buyers from entering into fresh transactions of importance. Dealers also seem determined to limit their commitments as much as possible, and in view of the very uncertain outlook the inclination to go slowly is only natural. More interest is now being taken in cotton crop news and the position in the United States is very uncertain. Owing to the scarcity of stocks of cotton in Liverpool and owing to American shipping difficulties, Spinners have rushed to secure any actual cotton, with the result that prices went up by leaps and bounds, necessitating the closing of the Liverpool Cotton Market on the 20th instant, after Mid-American Spot Cotton had touched 19.99d. and Egyptian 28.60d. per lb. China has recently given good support to the Manchester Market, chiefly in Grey goods. Stocks in China are said to have been reduced to an almost unprecedently low level which necessitated fresh buying.

GREYS.

The position of Grey Shirtings has been firm, but busines has been very irregular. Some dealers of White goods, Dhooties and Prints, who had bought fair lots of Staple Grey goods, had been rather very hasty in closing their transactions to secure profits, with the result that prices of such cloths had receded to the level of the previous week. 45 inches Red End Shirtings have been scarce and values have firmed up a good deal owing to better demand. The continuously diminishing shipment of Lancashire Grey Shirtings must sooner or later result in a higher level of values. Shipments of Japanese Piece-goods have been rather heavy. Grey Drills and Jacconets have remained firm after heavy fluctuations.

Locally made piece-goods are in a very strong position and prices remain on a high level.

WHITES.

In White Goods substantial advances have been established during the week in almost all the standard cloths. Several parcels have changed hands amongst the dealers in the bazaar, the values rising after each transaction, and each advance being pocketed by the respective sellers as their profit. 27 and 28 inches ranges of Nainsooks have appreciated by two annas per piece. Sacharilla Heading Mulls have been in better request and prices have increased to a fair extent. 54 and 60 inches by 20 yds. Mulls worth from Rs. 10 to Rs. 11 per piece fetch very good values owing to the scarcity of stocks and the high price of Egyptian cotton. Sellers have not been anxious to part with their stocks of 58 inches by 20 yds. Red End Mulls, as high priced purchases have begun to arrive, and the replacing cost is quite prohibitive of business. Horrockses' Shirtings have shewn further improvement.

LANCASHIRE YARNS.

The Yarn Market has been rather excited owing to the violent and sensational fluctuations in the raw material. There has been a big demand on speculative account which has enabled the sellers to put up the rates. As stocks are light and shipments are restricted, dealers refrain from parting with their holdings of well-known spinnings. Fresh forward business is quite out of the question at the moment.

Lancashire Grey Yarns are quoted as under:—

	Rs. a. p.
30s. Water Twist, Best, Per lb.	1 6 0
30s. Water Twist Lowest Per lb.	1 5 0
40s. Water Twist Best, Per lb.	1 7 0

BOMBAY AMUSEMENTS.

ROYAL OPERA HOUSE.

There is indeed a treat for cinema goers and Dickens' lovers alike at the Royal Opera House this week, for to-night "The Old Curiosity Shop" will be screened at 6-45 and 10 o'clock. Performed by a company of British artists on the very spots where the story is supposed to have taken place,—even the original Old Curiosity Shop being used in the picture—this is a film which will be in circulation in different parts of the world when most of the present-day heroes are dead and forgotten. Who does not know about the villainies of Quilp, the money-lender, who turned the old man and his grand-daughter Nell out of the Curiosity Shop; and how they wandered about the country begging from town to town until little Nell died of exhaustion? It is an English classic, and has been rendered on the screen in perfect accordance with the book. Added to this is the fact that the part of Nell is played by the finest child-actress in the world, Miss Mary Glynne, who has now just put her hair up and taken a leading part with Sir George Alexander in "The Aristocrat." She first became famous in "The Golden Land of Fairy Tales" and "Peter Pan," and displays in this film all her rare knowledge of technique and stage-craft. There is another good film on the programme, as well as the latest topical, so record crowds for a cinema bill are fully anticipated.

NEW ALEXANDRA CINEMA.

From this evening the final instalment of the Universal's great serial "Liberty" will be screened at the New Alexandra Cinema. Looking at the picture, how many of the picture-going public did think that in certain parts there were actual raiders shown in the actual act of pillaging homes, stealing and robbing all that they could lay their hands upon? It would be impossible to give a long list of actual events that were incorporated in this serial, and it was all done for nothing more than bringing home to the minds of the people the awfulness of it all. Besides this serial was designed primarily to entertain and in this it has succeeded admirably. In the nineteenth episode, the lovers, Liberty and Bob, are brought together again. Jose Leon is disposed of, who dies, giving the couple his blessings. Pedro brings the followers of Lopez to justice, shooting the last of them, and the great insurrection fails to accomplish its purpose. The much-tried hero and heroine come at last within speaking distance of peace and prosperity after their many vicissitudes. Then in the final episode, at last the great serial comes to an end, as everything must, and we have the satisfaction of seeing Liberty and Bob receive the reward of all their efforts. We leave the heroine in the moment of her greatest triumph, while she is being congratulated by the President of the United States for her services in frustrating the Mexican rebellion, and causing the death of the leader of the insurrection. The programme also contains a one-reel comic featuring Charlie Chaplin, the favourite of the screen, in one of his funniest latest creations.

IMPERIAL.

The management of the Imperial Cinema again regret to announce that owing to the very late arrival of the boat on Friday, they could not take delivery of the "Shielding Shadow" in time for this Saturday. It is, however, hoped that the film will be positively ready for next Saturday. Another fine programme is presented by Imperial this week, consisting of a scientific picture in Pathe Color, the Pathe's Gazette and "Chiffonnette" a beautiful drama in 4 parts, starring Mlle. Napierkowska, the celebrated Russian Dancer. The film contains some of the latest dances by this artist in addition to a strong and well sustained love story. This production is quite on a par with "Daughter of Herodias" shown in Bombay recently.

The programme also includes a latest Max Linder Comedy which will no doubt please all "Movie Fans."

ITALIAN WAR FILMS AT THE EXCELSIOR.

The Excelsior Theatre's Syndicate have at last secured some of the splendid war films issued by the Italian War Office. So little has been seen of the wonderful exploits of the Italian Alpini that this film "The Battle of the Alps" effectively brings home the immense natural obstacles our gallant Ally is overcoming. These pictures were shown in London before Their Majesties the King and Queen and Queen Alexandra in aid of the Italian Red Cross Society and achieved a remarkable success. This striking picture portrays in the most effective way the difficulties of Alpine fighting amidst vast ranges of peaks rising to some 10,000 feet above sea-level. It is an imposing spectacle, that of these heroes fighting on the top of the snowy Alps, regardless of the intense cold and other sufferings. Extraordinary pictures are shown of aerial lines carrying big guns and even from mountain to mountain in which considerable engineering ingenuity is shown. Guns are transported at a height above sea-level greater than that attained by a zeppelin over London. There are pictures of dug-oute in the snow and a fort whose ramparts are of ice. Magnificent panoramic views of the Adamello Glacier are both beautiful and thrilling. In connection with the Military portion of the films, some unique pictures of the Italian Navy in action will be screened. We see a bird's-eye view of Venice and an actual aerial attack, a submarine stopping a steamer and firing a torpedo, interesting views of the immense activity in the Italian arsenals and dockyards. Throughout the photography is of the first rate quality that has made the Italian Cinema industry famous. These films will be shown for a week, next Friday 29th being set apart for a special benefit for the Italian Red Cross in Bombay, Sig. A. Manzato, the Vice-Consul for Italy and Delegate of the Italian Red Cross in Bombay, is already busy on it and a big Italian night should be a well deserving success. The plan for Friday's special performance will open on Monday at Messrs. Rose and Co.

UNIVERSITY OF BOMBAY.

MEETING OF SENATE.

ELECTION OF SYNDICATE DISCUSSED.

An adjourned meeting of the Senate was held last night in the University Hall, the Vice-Chancellor, Mr. C. H. Setalvad presiding.

ELECTION OF THE SYNDICATE.

Dr. Harold H. Mann moved as recommended by the Syndicate:—

(a) that a certain proportion of the Syndics be elected by the Senate; (b) that for General Regulation 15 (pages 38-39 of the Calendar for 1916-17) the following be substituted:—

15. The Executive Government of the University shall be vested in a Syndicate, consisting of the Vice-Chancellor, the Director of Public Instruction, and fifteen Ordinary Fellows, who shall be elected for one year in the following manner:—

(i) Seven Heads or Professors of Colleges shall be elected as follows:

Three by the Faculty of Arts, of whom one shall be a representative of Commerce;

Three by the Faculty of Science, of whom one shall represent Engineering, one Agriculture, and one Pure Science.

One by the Faculty of Medicine.

(ii) Four, who need not be Heads or Professors of Colleges, shall be elected in the following manner:

One by the Faculty of Arts.
One by the Faculty of Medicine.
Two by the Faculty of Law.

The eleven members to be elected as above must be members of the respective Faculties electing them.

(iii) Four shall be elected by the Senate.

The elections shall take place in the following order:—(1) Medicine, (2) Law, (3) Science, (4) Arts, and (5) the Senate.

In the event of a Fellow elected under this Regulation, section (i), ceasing during his term of office to be the Head of, or a Professor in a College affiliated to this University, he shall, in all cases in which the number of Heads or Professors falls below the statutory minimum, cease to hold office as a member of the Syndicate and the Faculty which he represented shall elect one of its members who may be eligible to hold office, provided always that the Fellow so appointed shall hold office for the remainder of the period for which the person in whose place he is elected was originally appointed."

ALTERNATIVE PROPOSITION.

(c) That in the event of the rejection of (a) by the Senate the proposition which was on the Agenda for the Senate Meeting of the 27th January, 1917, be adopted, viz.:—

That, as recommended by the Syndicate, the following Regulation be substituted for General Regulation 15 (pages 38-39 of the Calendar):—

15. The Executive Government of the University shall be vested in a Syndicate, consisting of the Vice-Chancellor, the Director of Public Instruction, and fifteen Ordinary Fellows, who shall be elected for one year by the several Faculties in the following proportions:—

Five members to be elected by the Faculty of Arts, of whom one, separately elected, shall represent Commerce and shall be the Head or a Professor of a College of Commerce affiliated to this University; of the remaining four, at least two shall be Heads or Professors of Arts Colleges affiliated to this University.

Four members to be elected by the Faculty of Science in the following order:—(a) one to represent Engineering; (b) one to represent Agriculture, (c) one to represent Pure Science; (d) one who may be any member of the Faculty of Science. Of these four members, at least two shall be Heads or Professors of Colleges affiliated to this University.

Three members to be elected by the Faculty of Medicine, two of whom at least shall be Heads or Professors of a Medical College affiliated to this University.

Three members to be elected by the Faculty of Law.

The elections shall take in the following order:—(1) Medicine, (2) Law, (3) Science, and (4) Arts.

In the event of a Fellow elected under this Regulation ceasing during his term of office to be the Head of, or a Professor in, a College affiliated to this University, he shall, in all cases in which the number of Heads or Professors falls below the statutory minimum, cease to hold office as a member of the Syndicate, and the Faculty which he represented shall elect one of its members who may be eligible to hold office, provided always that the Fellow so appointed shall hold office for the remainder of the period for which the person in whose place he is elected was originally appointed."

The Vice-Chancellor suggested that as there were no amendments to clause (a), Dr. Mann might move it separately.

CHANGE BASED ON CALCUTTA SYSTEM.

Dr. Mann said in passing the resolution the Senate would not commit themselves to any opinion. They had written to Calcutta and they had the opinions of Sir Gurudas Bannerji and Mr. Justice Chaudhari and others that the Calcutta system was better than the Bombay system. The present change was based on the Calcutta system. There were a number of men who had no right to be there at all. It was necessary that there should be a certain number of business men on the Syndicate, who could guide the discussion from a more general point of view. He thought that a certain portion of the members on the Syndicate should be elected by the Senate.

Lieut.-Colonel Street opposed the motion. The business-part of the Syndicate being managed by the Vice-Chancellor he did not think there was any necessity for more business men. He thought that the Syndicate should be composed of specialists in different branches who would be elected by the Faculties only. There was also the fear of cliques and caucuses being formed if the right of election were given to a large body like the Senate and this would result in the four men being elected by a particular party.

SPECIALISTS WANTED.

Principal Paranjpye supported the proposal. They had made provision for the specialists who were said to be wanted. Until a few years ago the Syndicate had to do everything regarding the prescribing of books, but this had been changed recently. They wanted specialists. Seven of the 15 men would be educationists. People were talking of caucuses and cliques in certain faculties, and that certain interests were not represented in these faculties. He would not have referred to this thing had not Col. Street mentioned it. There was a certain feeling of discontent and disapproval at the way things were done in the Syndicate. Cliques and caucuses there would always be, but if the field were larger there would not be so many opportunities to form them as at present.

Dr. Viegas opposed the motion. He said at present the faculty of Art monopolised everything, and if the new proposal were adopted they would swamp everything. They had gone on very well with the present state of things and no changes were necessary.

Mr. H. J. Bhabha supported the motion. He said in all the modern Universities there were one set of men who looked after the studies and another who looked after the administration. He strongly supported the idea that more men with administrative capacity should be elected.

Mr. K. S. Iyer supported the proposal. He said the recommendation was not brought forward because it had been recommended by Calcutta, but on its own merits. He thought there could be no cliques or caucuses because they were there representing the highest educational interests. There might be honest differences of opinion, but he did not think there could be any caucuses. The question should be discussed on its merits, and no other consideration should come in.

Mr. B. J. Desai supported the motion strongly. He thought that the specialists would have a larger voice than at present. He supported the motion rather on general grounds than as a matter of principle.

Prof. Limaye further supported the proposition.

CONFIDENCE OF SENATE IN SYNDICATE NOT COMPLETE.

Dr. Mann said in replying that the confidence of the Senate in the Syndicate was not complete, and he was anxious that it should be complete, and that the Syndicate should not act independently of the Senate. He was anxious that the Syndicate should be more and more representative of the Senate and he was strongly in favour of his motion.

The proposal was adopted by 44 votes against 14.

Dr. Mann then moved the second part of the proposition. He said the specialists should be the largest possible number on the Syndicate.

Sir Bhalchandra Krishna seconded the proposal.

Mr. B. J. Desai moved that the Senate should dissolve themselves into a committee and then consider the proposal.

This motion was defeated, as there was not the requisite two-thirds majority in its favour.

The Vice-Chancellor called upon Sir Temulji B. Nariman to move his amendment as it was the most comprehensive of all.

AMENDMENT.

Sir Temulji B. Nariman then moved:

That in item 7, Revision of the Constitution of Syndicate, all words after the 6th line be deleted and the following be substituted:

"15. The Executive Government of the University shall be vested in a Syndicate consisting of the Vice-Chancellor, the Director of Public Instruction, and fifteen Ordinary Fellows elected every year—5 from the Faculty of Arts, 4 from the Faculty of Science, 3 from the Faculty of Medicine, and 3 from the Faculty of Law—eleven of whom shall be elected by the several Faculties and four by the Senate in the following manner:

Four members elected from the Faculty of Arts of whom one, separately elected, shall represent Commerce; of these at least three shall be Heads or Professors of Arts (including Commerce) Colleges affiliated to this University.

Three members elected from the Faculty of Science, one to represent Engineering, one to represent Agriculture, and one to represent Pure Science. Of these at least two shall be Heads or Professors of Colleges affiliated to this University.

Two members elected from the Faculty of Medicine who shall be Heads or Professors of a Medical College affiliated to this University.

Two members elected by the Faculty of Law.

The remaining four members of the Syndicate one from each Faculty shall be elected by the Senate.

Dr. N. V. J. Mors seconded the amendment.

PRINCIPLE OF EX-OFFICO MEMBERS OPPOSED.

Dr. R. Scott supported Dr. Mann's proposition. What was the University? It consisted of the professors, the students and the educational workers in the Presidency. There were 6,000 arts students apart from the new college in Poona. The number of engineering students was less than 200; the commercial college also had less than 200 students; and the Agricultural College had about 100 students. The Arts professors had much wider interests than were represented in the six thousand students. There were again the teachers of schools to be considered. He supported the motion because it gave a larger representation to the Arts Colleges. He was against the principle of having ex-officio members. His first point was that the Arts interests were a much wider and larger thing, on account of the larger number of students, and they could have ex-officio members for a dozen things. The second was that they should have the open honourable way of elections for the Syndicate.

At this stage Sir N. G. Chandavarkar proposed that they should dissolve themselves into Committee; this motion was adopted.

The Vice-Chancellor said there were several important issues to be determined by the Committee. The first issue was what was to be the total number of the Syndicate.

Principal Paranjpye moved that there should be 15 members.

Mr. Vaidya seconded this motion and it was passed.

The second issue was whether the elections should be absolutely free or restricted, and the committee decided that this should be absolutely free by a majority of 38 against 13.

The third issue before the committee was what number should be elected by the Senate, and it was decided that the number should be four.

The Senate then adjourned till 5-45 p.m. to-day.

BOMBAY CHRONICLE.
Saturday, June 23, 1917.

LORD CHELMSFORD'S SILENCE

Writing a fortnight back we said:

"It was for Lord Chelmsford to have initiated a comprehensive policy in India, conceived and cast on bold and generous lines, which would have been in harmony with the spirit of the times. He has not done so. He has not sounded one note that might have touched the hearts or the imagination of the vast community entrusted to his care and guidance."

In view of the rapid development of the crisis in India since these words were written, and applying their general bearing to the particular issue, we are constrained to say that the Viceroy's continued silence is passing from an act of omission to one of commission. The conflagration lit by Lord Pentland on the 24th of May last has spread into a blaze, and there is so far no sign or symptom of cognizance from Simla. We frankly confess that to us it is incomprehensible on what conception of his duties Lord Chelmsford can justify the seeming detachment of his Government from the storm that is raging to-day in this country. The Government of India have supreme responsibilities in regard to the vast population entrusted to their charge, and in respect of the Provincial Administrations they are in the position, constitutionally and in popular estimation, of an appellate court and of arbitrators. Now, the question which they have so far refused or omitted to face is whether or not the astounding policy propounded by the Governor of Madras had or has their authority or endorsement. The question is not one that can be evaded. Alike from the point of view of the credit and unity of Government policy and of public well-being it is imperative that the Government of India should declare themselves. The people of this country are entitled to know where they stand. Had the Imperial Legislative Council been in session means would doubtless have been found to stimulate the interest of the Indian Government in the grave turmoil and unrest into which the country has been flung, with almost cynical thoughtlessness, and to elicit a clear definition of their attitude to the same. But that cannot be until the Imperial Council resumes its sitting in September, and meanwhile the internal situation calls for some definite adjustment. The question that is being asked with increasing frequency and anxiety from one end of the country to the other is a very simple and direct one. It is: Are Lord Chelmsford and his Government behind the Governor of Madras or are they not? If the answer to the question is in the affirmative, chivalry as well as official tradition demand that there should be open declaration of such support. If, on the other hand, the answer is in the negative, it is equally necessary in the public interest that there should be a not less clear and emphatic disclaimer of Lord Pentland. In either case calculated suspense and avoidable uncertainty constitute an impossible position.

What are the facts? The Viceroy of India, the Governors and the Lieutenant-Governors, not to mention the Chief Commissioners who take themselves with such exaggerated solemnity, have repeatedly declared during the last few months that their one anxiety was to eschew internal controversies. The war was the supreme issue, and domestic politics or policies would be a disastrous disgression. Accepting that view, the entire body of the educated community in India imposed upon itself a self-denying ordinance. Ever since the beginning of the war their whole energies have been devoted to strengthening the hands of the Imperial Government, to helping to the best of their powers and abilities in maintaining a vigorous prosecution of the war. There has been no single war measure or proposal which they have not enthusiastically supported. Men and money have been forthcoming notwithstanding serious inherent difficulties and hindrances with unstinted patriotism and generosity. These are facts to which Mr. Asquith, Mr. Lloyd George, Mr. Austen Chamberlain, Lord Hardinge, as well as a number of Dominions statesmen have testified with enthusiastic appreciation. In the midst of such a situation, and while the echoes of their own protestations of non-controversial peaceableness should still have been ringing in the ears of the Government in this country,—Lord Pentland chose to burst a bomb-shell in the form of a great and monstrous denial of the constitutional liberties and national aspirations of the King-Emperor's Indian subjects. The challenge was one which could not conceivably have been ignored. It has been taken up as it was bound to be taken up. Even a schoolboy in these days knows that there is no altruism in politics. But, at the same time, it is not too much to expect that a responsible Government, such as the Constitution conceives and has created the Government of India to be, shall show a certain amount of candour, as well as conciliatory and clear guidance, in the face of an acute and galloping crisis. Have the Government of India done so? The heights of Simla are not so inaccessible as to be detached from the convulsions of mundane strife. Does the Viceroy know of the storm that is sweeping the country? Is he cognisant of its origin and alive to its meaning? If so is it not time that he emerged from his Olympian shelter to reassure the community that is still waiting for him to give his verdict on the issue that has been raised, and raised gratuitously, by the Governor of Madras. Can it be seriously pretended that a provocation which has forced almost all the most distinguished, representative and thoughtful men in the country, including the colleagues of Lord Chelmsford on the Supreme Council and the colleagues of Lord Pentland on the Madras Council from their truce, does not require investigation and redress? Is there a single person of any consequence or authority in the national life of India who has not declared that Lord Pentland has enunciated a principle which no self-respecting Indian can submit to and which is contradictory of all the solemn pledges of the Sovereign and Parliament which constitute the basis of British Rule in this country. That being the case it follows that normal public life cannot be resumed in this country so long as the Government of India, who are responsible for the policy and administrative integrity of the subordinate Government of Madras, do not see their way to revoke or rectify the blunder that has been committed. It is fully time that Lord Chelmsford broke his silence. We earnestly hope and trust that he will do so to statesman-like purpose. He has got both the opportunity and the authority. But in any case, as we have suggested, the credit of his Government as well as the highest interests of public weal demand that his Excellency should declare himself.

Notes of the Day.

Mr. Chamberlain's Statement.

The first intimation of the news of Lord Pentland's blazing indiscretion having reached England is afforded by Reuter's telegram which we publish to-day, giving Mr. Chamberlain's reply to a question in the House put by Sir Archibald Williamson. We have no means of knowing whether the cabled report gives the whole or only a part of the reply. But the statement of the Secretary of State, as given, would appear to be as incomplete as it is unsatisfactory. Mr. Chamberlain has "no doubt" that the action of the Madras Government in interning Mrs. Besant and Messrs Arundale and Wadia was "necessary." Sir Subramaniya Iyer, the Hon. Mr. Jinnah, Pundit M. M. Malaviya, Mr. Surendranath Banerjea, Dr. Tej Bahadur Sapru, Dr. Motilal Nehru, and some scores of others of the foremost public men in the country,—all, unlike Mr. Chamberlain, "men on the spot,"—think that it was not only not "necessary" but utterly un-called-for, unjustifiable and provocative. Whom is the British public going to believe? And apart from that what steps are the Indian leaders themselves taking to place the whole of the facts before the Secretary of State?

Italy's War Aims.

At a time when the principle of "no annexation" has still not quite emerged from the region of debate as between Russia and her Allies, a statement of Italy's war aims, such as has just been made by her Foreign Minister proclaiming Italy's claims to dispose of the future of the Albanian territories occupied by her, has a more than ordinary interest. There is no doubt that Italy from the very beginning bargained with the Allies for the Albanian concession and her delayed entry into the war was, as every one now knows, due to the hesitancy on the part of some of the Allies to grant that concession. Only the future can show whether or not Italy received a definite promise that she would be allowed to have a free hand in Albania in return for her timely help to the Allies in Macedonia. But for Italy to insist on controlling Albania's destiny, in the face of dislike of the population of that little heterogenus state, involves the risk of future complication in the Balkans. Italy, no doubt, would very much like to secure a predominance in the Adriatic, and European statesmanship should be equal to satisfying her legitimate ambitions. But insistence upon a policy that cuts across the principle of nationality which is to be the governing rule of territorial redistribution after the war is neither wise now nor likely to be easy of fulfilment in the future.

Huns' "National Anthem."

The prospectus of the competition which is to supply "a new National Hymn, a German 'Kaiserlied,'" has been issued, says a Home contemporary, signed by the Bishop of Speyer, Professor von Harnack, Herr Humperdinck, the composer, Herr Hans Thoma, the painter, and Professors von Wilamowitz-Mollendorff, and Wilhelm Wundt; the secretaries are Fraulein Marie von Bunsen and Professor Max Friedlander. When five or ten of the best sets of verses have been selectd, there is to be another competition for German composers. "Now," say the organizers, "when the unbroken strength of our people is arming for the last and decisive round, we will find edification and fortification in German poetry and German song." The "Berliner Tageblatt" publishes a protest against the whole scheme, on the ground that, although "Heil Dir in Siegerkranz" may be an objectionable "Kaiserlied," the German National Hymn for the past 75 years has been "Deutschland, Deutschland uber alles," and no other is necessary.

FIGHTING NEAR VAUXAILLON.

FRENCH COUNTER-OFFENSIVE.

POSITION NEAR MOISY FARM RECAPTURED.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)
LONDON, June 21.
Recd. 7-30 a.m., June 22.

This afternoon's French communiqué says:—

The German attack yesterday east of Vauxaillon was very violent. It was preceded by fierce bombardment and carried out by special assaulting troops belonging to the Division recently brought from Russia. Our troops obstinately resisted and all the enemy's efforts to develop a few advantages acquired in the first shock were smashed by our fire and counter-attacks. The Germans finally only penetrated our first line at two places, namely, south of Mont Deninges on a front of four hundred metres and north of the Moisy Farm on a front of two hundred metres.

An energetic counter-offensive this morning enabled us to recapture the former position, where we discovered numerous bodies, testifying to the enemy's high losses.

Between June 8th and 20th we destroyed fourteen enemy aeroplanes and seven others seriously damaged, fell in the enemy's own lines. Our air squadrons dropped twelve tons of bombs on enemy railway stations, factories, blast furnaces, bivouacs and ammunition dumps, causing important damage.

FIGHTING IN MOISY FARM.

ADVANCE IN CHAMPAGNE.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)
LONDON, June 22.
Recd. 2 p.m., June 22.

Last night's French communiqué said:—

The fighting continued to our advantage east of Vauxaillon. A counter-attack delivered by us on a trench in the sector of the Moisy Farm gave important results. Hitherto we have recaptured all the positions with the exception of a salient four hundred metres to the north-east where enemy parties are still holding out. The artillery duels have been exceedingly lively in this region.

Fairly lively bombardment was opened against our lines between Hurtebise and Craonne.

In the Champagne we accomplished a particularly brilliant advance north-east of Mont Cornillet. The enemy attempted to recapture the positions wrested from him on June 18, but was repulsed by bombers who then took the offensive and pursued the Germans into the trench from which they had emerged and captured it. We thus advanced to a depth of three hundred metres on a front of six hundred metres. One hundred enemy bodies were left on the ground.

There is considerable speculation here concerning possible changes in the situation on the Macedonian front, following upon Constantine's deposition, the Italian activity in Albania, and the British withdrawal for posts eastward of the Struma.

SOUTH AFRICAN ASSEMBLY.

IMPORTANT DEBATE.

MR. MERIMAN IN FAVOUR OF CONSTITUTION.

TERRORS OF REPUBLICAN PROPAGANDA.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)
CAPETOWN, June 20.
Recd. 1 a.m. June 23.

Great public interest centred in an important debate in the Assembly upon the following motion moved by the veteran South African statesman and ex-premier Mr. John Merriman: "That this House, viewing with alarm the several manifestations of republican propaganda now being carried on in the country, desires to record its opinion that such manifestations, whether by speech, writing or other methods, are directly at variance with the constitution as laid down and agreed to in the South African Act, that they are opposed to the best interests of the people and it persisted in must inevitably lead to fatal dissensions and ultimate ruin of the European race in South Africa. This House therefore calls upon those who are loyal to the constitution to express the strongest disapproval of the dangerous efforts of those who seek to subvert the principles on which that constitution is based."

REPUBLICAN PROPAGANDA WOULD LEAD TO CIVIL WAR.

Mr. Merriman emphasised the need that the House should give a clear and unmistakeable lead, pointing out that while such nationalist propaganda was regarded lightly by educated people, it was different in the country districts where there was a deliberate movement to destroy the constitution in favour of a republican government which, he declared emphatically, could only lead to civil war. He considered the danger in fomenting artificial distinctions very real and terrible and asked the House to testify that it stood by the constitution.

Louw, the Dutch-speaking Africander member for the Cape Constituency of Colesberg, seconded the motion.

The Labour Leader, Colonel Creswell, supporting Mr. Merriman's motion, referred in striking terms to South Africa's part in the recent African campaigns. Speaking in connection with post-war settlement, he declared that he was convinced that the working class of South Africa would be filled with alarm at any possibility of South-west Africa being returned to Germany. They in South Africa had not assisted in the war from any desire to take land, but because they believed it right and they could not contemplate with equanimity the re-establishment of German power on their borders. They strongly objected to such an idea. Germany wanted a strong protectorate from West Africa across the Central to East Africa. Nationalists talked about a republican. Colonel Creswell asked them to contemplate a strong Germany stretching across the continent with harbours and submarine bases and huge native population trained and drilled as black soldiers in huge mercenary army. South Africa would then be confronted with an unparalleled state of affairs. It would be at the mercy of the German Black African Empire. He asked how long South Africa would then enjoy the direct freedom it had to-day. He emphasised that Labour members would continue to support the Government's war policy.

FUTURE OF SOUTH AFRICA IN UNION OF RACES.

General Botha laid stress on the fact that ever since South Africa had received the constitution, the British Government had never interfered with South Africa. He pointed out that no word had been uttered by Free State delegates at the National Convention regarding constitution on republican lines and said that a great majority in South Africa did not want further civil war. He asked whether the minority were going to force a civil war on the majority and reiterated that the only future of South Africa lay in the union of races.

Mr. Hertzog contended that nothing containing in the constitution or the Treaty of Vereeninging was opposed to his conducting a propaganda in favour of a republic.

Sir Thomas Smartt, adverting to the National Convention, said that the English minority relied on the good faith of the Dutch majority. He strongly emphasised that if the present propaganda were continued the Premier must feel that he had the support of the vast majority in dealing with it promptly and vigorously.

Mr. Merriman's motion was carried and the minority in division was composed solely of the Nationalists.

ACTION AGAINST MRS. BESANT

MR. CHAMBERLAIN QUESTIONED.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)
LONDON, June 21.
Recd. 0-5 am., June 23.

In the House of Commons, replying to Sir A. Williamson, Mr. Chamberlain said he had no doubt that the action of the Madras Government in regard to Mrs. Besant and and Messrs. Arundale and Wadia was necessary. He pointed out that other governments had satisfied themselves that the activities of Mrs. Besant and her associates had excited unrest which might easily be dangerous at present.

POLICY OF REPRESSION DENOUNCED.

LUCKNOW MOSLEMS' INDIGNATION.

"NEW INDIA" RE-APPEARS.

PROTEST MEETINGS AT VARIOUS PLACES.

(Associated Press.)

MADRAS, June 21.

(Delayed in transmission.)

A public meeting of the citizens of Madras was held this evening at the Gokhale Hall to protest against the order of the Madras Government interning Mrs. Besant, Messrs. B. P. Wadia and G. S. Arundale. The hall was packed to its utmost capacity many persons standing outside for want of accommodation. Sir Subramania Iyer proposed the Hon. Mr. B. N. Sarma to the chair. After the Chairman's address, Dewan Bahadur P. Kesava Pillai moved the following resolution:—

"That this public meeting of people of the Madras Presidency views with extreme surprise and indignation, the action of the Madras Government in employing without justifiable cause the provisions of the Defence of India Act to intern Mrs. Besant, who has served the people of India with intense devotion and unexampled self-sacrifice, and on strictly constitutional lines, for quarter of a century, and whose incessant labours for the regeneration of India in religious, social, political and educational matters have won for her an abiding place in the hearts of the people.

"That this meeting is of the opinion that the internment of Mrs. Besant and of her able and devoted fellow workers in the country's cause, Mr. Arundale and Mr. Wadia, is flagrantly unjust, that this action of the Madras Government is a gross misuse of the powers conferred on them by the Defence of India Act, constitutes an unwarranted infringement of the fundamental rights of all British subjects and will have the certain result of crippling every legitimate and constitutional agitation for the advancement of the people's welfare; that this meeting places on record its most emphatic protest against the said orders of internment of Mrs. Besant, Mr. Arundale and Mr. Wadia and urges upon his Majesty's Secretary of State for India and his Excellency the Viceroy to take immediate steps to have the said orders revoked and cancelled."

Among those who spoke on the resolutions were the Hon. Mr. Narasimha Iyer, the Hon. Mr. Krishna Rao, the Hon. Mr. Ramachandra Rao, the Hon. Mr. Rangachariar, the Hon. Mr. Sadasiva Dutt, Mr. Horniman, Mr. Kelkar, Dr. Nunjunda Rao, Dewan Bahadur L. A. Govindaraghava Iyer and others.

The meeting commenced with the exhibition of a group-photo of Mrs. Besant, Messrs. Wadia and Arundale, which was honoured in the Indian style, all standing and garlanding the photo and burning camphor amidst loud cheers of "Bande Mataram".

A number of telegrams from persons in the mofussil and from Bombay and Bengal expressing sympathy with the meeting were received.

PRESIDENTIAL ADDRESS.

The Hon. Mr. B. N. Sarma in the course of his presidential speech, pointed out that the Indian Defence Act was a war measure and said Mrs. Besant has throughout been a consistant supporter of Government in their war policy and the explanation for the action of Government must be looked elsewhere. He said the action of Government is a clear indication that we are on the right road to victory, which has never been achieved without suffering. He added meanwhile we shall pursue our even course along the constitutional path undaunted by fear, neither unduly elated by temporary victories nor depressed by discomfiture, persevering unto the end until victory is within sight, nay is achieved until the creed of the Empire is liberty and union now and for ever one and inseparable.

He concluded, "Meanwhile we shall hold the 16th of June in sacred memory as unfurling the dawn of a new era in the pacific constitutional struggle for the freedom of India to occupy her legitimate place as a true and living partner among the States comprising the British Empire."

Mr. P. Kesava Pillay in moving the principal resolution controverted the statement that this action of Government was not felt by seven-eighths of the population of the Presidency and said that he was in actual touch with the people of the mofussil and so could say that the action was resented by the masses of the people.

SUGGESTED DEPUTATION TO ENGLAND.

Mr. Horniman urged the sending of a deputation to England at once so as to achieve the important object of getting the action of the Government of Madras repealed.

Mr. Kelkar hoped that the expression of the Madras public meeting might lead to the aversion of a similar shameful act on the part of the Government of Bombay.

Other resolutions were put from the chair and carried and were as follows:—"That this public meeting heartily supports the appeal for funds and behalf of Mrs. Besant made by the revered patriot and leader Sir S. Subramania Iyer and urges upon every lover of India to contribute to the same. That the Chairman of this meeting he requested to forward copies of the resolutions to the Secretary of State for India, the Viceroy and the Madras Government."

Befre the commencement of the meeting voluntary gifts were made for the fund recommended by Sir Subramania Iyer. The meeting was attended by several gentlemen from the mofussil.

Besides the names mentioned those present included the Hon. Mr. K. V. Rangaswami Iyengar, the Hon. Mr. A. S. Krishna Rao, the Hon. Mr. B. V. Narasimha Iyer, Mr. G. Srinivasa Rao, Mr. C. P. Ramaswami Iyer, the Hon. Mr. V. K. Ramanujachariar, Mr. P. Telang and many others.

"NEW INDIA" RE-APPEARS.

MR. TELANG'S EDITORIAL POLICY.

(Associated Press.)

MADRAS, June 21.

(Delayed in transmission.)

"New India" re-appears this evening under its new proprietory with the imprint of Mr. P. K. Telang as printer and publisher. Mr. Telang in a signed article entitled "Ourselves," says he will maintain the tone that Mrs. Besant has imparted to "New India." He will follow her policy and hopes to carry on the paper as she would like it carried on. He says, "I shall not henceforward publish any correspondence which does not disclose the name and address of the correspondent. Correspondents must be prepared to have their names and addresses published with their letters. I shall also refuse in future all advertisements regarding British goods except such as are absolute necessities and cannot at present be procured in India. But even with regard to this latter class of goods advertisements from Indian firms only will be accepted. This is in accordance with the spirit of the Swadeshi vow which I have taken and which, it is hoped, will be generally taken and acted up to all over India."

SYSTEM IN NEED OF RADICAL REFORM.

This is followed by an article entitled "Resurgam" by Mr. B. G. Horniman, who makes a vigorous attack on the policy of the Government and concludes thus:—

"What again is to be thought of a governmental system if it stands in need of administrators who to preserve its safety most flagrantly defy the principals laid down by their masters. There is one answer: That a system of Government which has reached a stage where it must rely for its safety on internments without trial and the suppression of speech and writing, is bankrupt and stands in need of radical reform. The only remedy is to confer on the people of this country that liberty and control over their own affairs which British statesmen have declared to be the right of every people, for which right they are waging the most stupendous war known to history. It rests with the men and women of India whether that issue is brought home to the people of England. We have no misgivings, despite temporary checks, of the ultimate outcome."

THE ONE COMMON DEMAND.

Mr. N. C. Kelkar contributes a special article in praise of Mrs. Besant and her work. In conclusion he writes, "Government must now remember that they are face to face not with this or that section of political workers, but with the party of constitutionalists as a whole from the Home Rule League down to the mildest moderate, united by one common bond of patriotic fellow feeling and advancing only one common demand, viz., for Self-Government."

MRS. BESANT'S DEPARTURE FOR OOTY

Mrs. Besant is leaving for Ootacamund to-night where she will together with Messrs. Arundale and Wadia take up her residence at "Gulistan."

At a joint meeting of the members of the Indian Home Rule League and Home Rule League, Pen Branch, held at Pen on the 21st June, 1917, the following resolution was passed unanimously and was sent to the Governments of Madras and India:—

"That this joint meeting of the members of the Indian Home Rule League and Home Rule League, Pen Branch, enters its most emphatic protest against the remarks made by his Excellency Lord Pentland in the Madras Legislative Council on the 24th May last regarding the demand of the Indian people for Self-Government as embodied in the resolution of the Lucknow Congress of 1916 and affirms that nothing less than the grant of the reforms demanded therein immediately after the war is calculated to satisfy the legitimate aspirations of the nation.

"That the meeting further strongly and emphatically protests against the unjust orders of internment issued by the Madras Government against Mrs. Besant and Messrs. Arundale and B. P. Wadia as an unjustifiable enroachment on the freedom and rights of citizenship and affirms that the work carried on by them for the attainment of Home Rule was perfectly legitimate and constitutional."

NEW CLUB FOR SICK AND WOUNDED IN POONA.

H. E. LADY WILLINGDON PERFOR M OPENING CEREMONY.

(Associated Press.)

POONA, June 22.

Her Excellency Lady Willingdon this evening opened the new club for the sick and wounded British soldiers in the magnificent pile of buildings known as Moti Mansions situate on Koregaon Road. The building is at present the property of Sir Shapurji Bharoocha, who has lent the place to the military authorities for purposes of the club until such time as other premises can be secured. Major General Fowler in asking Lady Willingdon to declare the club open said when the idea of club was first mooted there was no suitable building in which it could be housed and so they had recourse to Lady Willingdon, who asked Sir Shapurji Bharoocha to lend them this building. Their thanks were, therefore due to Sir Shapurji for this club in which he hoped many sick and wounded would be able to find comfort and recreation.

His Excellency Lord Willingdon in returning thanks on behalf of her Ladyship said he believed this to be the first club of its kind in India and he hoped it would go far towards helping to make life more endurable for all those who were able to use it. His Excellency paid a compliment to Sir Shapurji and hoped that when the war was over and they had won victory for the British arms, British soldiers who had been here would remember that there were some people in Poona who had done what they could to allieviate the sufferings of the sick and the wounded among them. His Excellency then asked her Ladyship to declare the club open. This was done by Lady Willingdon opening the front door after which a large number of sick and wounded soldiers who were present were treated to a sumptuous tea by the ladies of the Poona Branch of War and Relief Fund. A large number of ladies and gentlemen were present to witness the proceedings among them many medical officers.

HYDERABAD (SIND) CITIZENS' PROTEST.

(From a Correspondent.)

HYDERABAD, (Sind) June 22.

Under the joint auspicies of the Citizens' Association, the District Congress Committee and the Home Rule League a Public meeting of the citizens of Hyderabad was held, yesterday evening to protest against the policy of repression foreshadowed and by the recent speech of Lord Pentland and the circular regarding students and politics issued the Bombay Government. The Hon. Mr. Bhurgri presided and the meeting was a great success. The City Hall was packed to the full and people of all classes of society attended. Several leading speakers of the town took part in the proceedings and made very vigorous speeches on self-government and the need of carrying on constitutional agitation, and the whole atmosphere was surcharged with the spirit of swarajya and the audience was extremely responsive and enthusiastic. The following resolutions were passed amid cries of "Vande Mataram" the audience standing:—

1. "This public meeting of the citizens of Hyderabad strongly protests against the illiberal and reactionary attitude taken up by the Madras Government towards the present constitutional law-abiding agitation in advocacy of reforms adopted by the Congress and is of opinion that this agitation should continue to be carried on with unremitting vigour."

2. "This meeting emphatically protests against the recent circular of the Bombay Government imposing unreasonable restrictions on the attendance of students at public meetings."

The Hon. Mr. Bhurguri closed the proceedings with a few telling words.

KARACHI PRESS COMMENTS.

(From a Correspondent.)

The Karachi "New Times," commenting on the policy of naked repression says it requires an immediate and effective answer from all lovers of constitutional progress. The movement stands irrespective of the persons. The movement has brought forth the men, not the men the movement. There is nothing in the writings or utterances of Mrs. Besant that is in the least objectionable. All through her life the venerable old lady has worked for constitutional rights and progress. In conclusion it puts forward a constructive suggestion for the convening of an emergent joint meeting of the All-India Congress and Moslem League committees to appoint a central executive committee to prepare the country for a strong agitation by all constitutional methods available and to appeal to Government in the name of the country to repeal the orders passed against Mrs. Besant and Messrs. Wadia, Arundale, Mahomedali and Shaukatali and put a stop once for all to the fatal policy of repression that can produce only irritation and discontent.

TO-MORROW'S PUBLIC MEETING AT KALYAN.

Under the joint auspices of the Thana Sub-Divisional Congress Committee and the Indian Home Rule League, Thana District Branch, a public meeting will be held at Kalyan in the Sarvajanik Vachanalaya to-morrow at 5 p.m. to protest against the recent speech of H. E. Lord Pentland, Governor of Madras, and the internment of Mrs. Besant, Mr. Arundale and Mr. Wadia. The meeting is open to the public.

LORD PENTLAND'S APOLOGIST.

RAJA OF KURUPAM'S GRASP OF SITUATION.

ANIMADVERSION ON INDIAN PRESS.

"CONCENTRATE ATTENTION ON THE ATTAINABLE."

(Associated Press.)

MADRAS, June 22.

The Raja of Kurupam, in the course of a long letter to the Press under the title of "Lord Pentland and Political Situation" says it would be seen that his Excellency animadverted neither on the Congress resolution nor on the non-official memorandum but only deprecated a propaganda and its methods carried on in extravagant and ill-balanced language for responsible self-government immediately. In responding to the toast at luncheon given by the Empire Parliamentary Association, the Maharaja of Bikanir, speaking on behalf of India said "No reasonable-minded person will contend that India is ripe at the present moment for self-government in the full sense of the term. But there are many who think that there is yet room for political reforms and advance. On the part of Indians we need patience, a due sense of responsibility and above all concentration on that which is attainable." It is strange that neither the Indian Press nor the Home Rule leaders repudiated the Maharaja's statement. Lord Pentland has said nothing more. And yet the Indian Press and leaders worked themselves up into a frenzy and even so level-headed a gentleman like Dr. Sir Subramanya Iyer was moved to ride the Rosinante, in defence of rights never threatened and aspirations never denied. The fact is the pleasant pastime of bureaucracy-baiting has developed a stage higher into Governor-baiting, and a language is indulged in unknown in the annals of Indian journalism, but fast becoming the fashion of the day. Let us concentrate our work and attention on that which is attainable and have a clearer grasp of the issue before the country. As I understand it, while Home Rule or responsible self-government is the ultimate goal, the question before the country is, the steps leading to it. The non-official Memorandum represents the maximum demand of the advanced section of the educated classes. A considerable section regards certain portions of it as impracticable and premature. The matter rests with the British democracy and Governments of the country whose views will certainly be given the weight they deserve.

WOMAN

SHAKES HANDS WITH "HUSBAND" AFTER STRANGE SUIT.

There was a happy ending on May 16, to the action brought by Mr. Channell Law, aged 62, of Torquay, who in the Chancery Division sought to set aside a deed of separation entered into with Mrs. Isabella Martha Harrigan, also of Torquay, allowing her £300 a year, under the impression that he was her husband, says the "Daily Mail."

The judge held that the deed was clearly proved, and at the time the parties thought the marriage was valid. The deed was therefore void and must be cancelled.

Mr. Law: Now, Mrs. Harrigan, will you shake hands?

Mrs. Harrigan accepted the invitation.

In the earlier proceedings it was stated that the parties were married in 1913 after an acquaintance of about two months, but soon came to the conclusion that they had acted hastily and decided to separate. In 1914 it was discovered that the woman's first husband, Dr. Thornton Frederick Walter Harrigan, was still alive in Canada, whereupon Mr. Law ceased the payments. Dr. Harrigan died later.

Mrs. Harrigan defended the action in person and alleged that at the time the deed was executed Mr. Law knew there were serious doubts as to the death of her husband. Mrs. Harrigan, cross-examining Mr. Law: Have you told people that I married you for your money?—I think I told people you did not marry me for love.

Why, then, did I refuse an ante-nuptial settlement?—You didn't, I never offered you one.

Mr. Law denied that he ever heard of Dr. Harrigan having been seen in the pew of a Halifax (Nova Scotia) church before October 1914.

Mrs. Harrigan: Did you not send me a magnificent box of red, yellow, and pink roses with a lady's wide mourning card bearing the words "In memoriam of first husband"?—No, I sent you a box of flowers, but nothing intended to refer to first husband.

Mrs. Harrigan, addressing the Court, said that when she married Mr. Law she thought her husband was dead, and that if not, according to Canadian and American law, after seven years' silence and twelve years' non-support, she was entitled to marry again. She had received two proposals of marriage before. She never represented herself to Mr. Law as a widow. "Men were deceivers ever," added Mrs. Harrigan amid laughter.

The deed, as stated, was set aside.

THE POLITICAL SITUATION.

LETTER FROM DR. TEJ BAHADUR SAPRU.

TO THE EDITOR OF "THE CHRONICLE."

Sir,—It is not always true that speech is silver and silence golden. There are occasions when speech is golden and silence worse than silver. I think the present is one of those occasions. If I had to fortify myself by precedents, I should unhesitatingly refer to the example set to us in our own country by distinguished pro-consuls in the various provinces of India who have broken the somewhat unusual spell of silence and spoken what they and their admirers, official and non-official, consider to be words of wisdom and true sympathy with India. Holding the convictions that I do and to which I have never failed to give expression in public, I think a public man who failed to express his views on the situation as it has been gradually unfolding itself before our eyes, would forfeit all claim to sincerity and earnestness and loyalty to his ideals, if he thought such silence was discretion. It is in that belief that I venture to address these few lines to you

The recent speeches of Sir Michael O'Dwyer in the Punjab and Lord Pentland in Madras—the latter especially—have given us a fairly good glimpse into the mind of the bureaucracy. They are the heads of administration in two important provinces of India and it will not do to ignore their speeches or to attach no significance to them. It is no use speculating as to whether they have given expression to their individual views or whether they have been inspired by higher authorities. I think the safer course is to assume that they have spoken with the approval of the Government of India.

Now what do their speeches in substance amount to? They are a clear warning to that large and daily growing body of Indians who have set their hearts upon attaining Self-government within the Empire by all constitutional means. Lord Pentland deserves the thanks of the country for the bluntness with which he has spoken. While statesmen in England have been indulging in vague references to India, obscuring their meaning by delightful metaphors and similies and often speaking of India when in truth and fact they meant that close Corporation called the Government of India, certain administrators in India have not hesitated to utter bluntly and even irritatingly as to what they think should not be bestowed upon India. And from practical experience we know that the man on the spot carries the day. While therefore no one feels encouraged by what Mr. Lloyd George and Mr. Chamberlain have recently said in England about India, every one is bound to closely analyse and apprehend the utterances of their agents in India, and feel depressed, or stimulated to further action, according as his mental temperament or the strength of his conviction is affected by such utterances.

The fact is that Lord Pentland has spoken out the mind of the bureaucracy and warned us of the dangers we run in pressing our demands. No doubt his Lordship thinks he has done a service to India—every bureaucrat when he applies the brake thinks so. There is equally little doubt that his admirers in the bureaucracy and the Anglo-Indian press also think that he has spoken not a minute too soon nor a word too strongly. But this is not what the Indian reformers think of his speech. They hold and maintain that it is one of the unwisest performances of any Governor in recent times. It shows an utter lack of discrimination between what is constitutional and what is unconstitutional; it betrays a petulance and peevishness almost bordering upon a confession of failure it is an indirect attack against the Congress and the Muslim League,—neither courageous because of its indirectness nor wise because of the utter ignorance it shows of what these bodies have said or demanded,—it has convinced no one and irritated every one, and what is more than all this, it has created a sense of despair as much regrettable in the interests of the Government as in those of the people. Instead of easing the situation, it has made it more complex and complicated. Half a dozen more speeches of this description by Governors and Lieutenant-Governors, and I have no doubt in my mind that the bureaucracy will have to face an India more angry, more sullen, and more bitter than it ever has been. It has been said by some apologists of Lord Pentland that his Lordship did not mean to attack the Congress or at least the moderate section of the Congress, and that his speech was intended to protect our youths from the contaminating influences of the Home Rule party. Those who say so must be living in a fool's paradise if they think that there is a single Congressman—moderate or extremist—who does not want Self-government for India and who does not stand by the resolution passed at the Congress last year—a resolution which has either been ignored or misrepresented or mutilated by the opponents of Indian aspirations. And I have yet to know that any Governor or for the matter of that any official of any consequence has any weakness for the constitutional party in India. The fact is such explanations are as unconvincing as the speeches themselves to which they relate.

As regards protecting our young men from contaminating influences, is it seriously contended or believed that circulars such as those issued by Lord Pentland and Lord Willingdon can 'protect' them from 'contaminating' influences? I am one of those who strongly maintain that students should not take active part in politics, that their business is to watch and study politics from all possible points of view, but I think that steps such as those taken in Madras and Bombay, so far from having any utility about them are models of bureaucratic futility. Suppose you prevent these young men from attending political meetings. How will you prevent them from reading the speeches of their countrymen in the newspapers? Suppose again that you deny them access to all newspapers that publish such speeches, how will you protect them against their own fathers, brothers, and relations, whose examples are far more powerful than their speeches? Will you provide new homes for these young men, for in every educated Indian home, self-government is the theme of conversation and discussion Will you tell them to read only the Anglo-Indian newspapers? If you will, then I feel sure you can do nothing better to teach them to aspire after self-government, and to fill them with discontent, for the arrogant tone of these papers, the contempt they pour upon Indian reformers and Indian aspirations, the aspersions they cast upon educated India, are enough to fill any young mind with ideas of self-government. Again, to be logical, you must protect them from English literature and English history, for they are the breeding ground of the germs of these new aspirations. And lastly, will you ask them to shut their eyes and close their ears to what is happening outside India, where professedly so much money and so many lives are being sacrificed—for what? for self-government—the salt and strength of the British constitution. The fact it that these empirical methods of dealing with the student problem are as ineffective as they are unwise. So far from displaying any strength, they have been conceived in a spirit of timidity. Government have shown no courage in dealing with the question. On the contrary they have shown a superabundance of obstinacy, short-sightedness and utter lack of imagination—so characteristic of all bureaucracies.

If Lord Pentland's speech has any meaning, the Government are apparently resolved to resort to their old and favourite weapon—Repression. But has repression succeedeed in any part of the world? Has it succeeded in Ireland? Let contemporary history answer. Has it succeeded in Russia? Did it succeed in the old days in Italy? Has it succeeded in Bengal? No, and repression will not succeed again in India. But let us be fully prepared for it. It is the way of all bureaucracies—that is the one lesson of all history. It is only in the foul weather of repression that the strength of our convictions and beliefs can be tested, there can be no better trial of our courage and selflessness than repression. I sincerely hope and trust that Government will show more courage, more imagination and more level-headedness than the situation warrants us to believe. But if they are determined to pursue a course of ill-advised repression, we should meet it by firmer determination, greater cohesion and more sustained work than we can so far take credit for. The Government may suppress the Home Rule League—but they cannot suppress the feeling for Self-Government or Home Rule. The leaders of the Congress and the Muslim League have deliberately set that ideal before the country. They have formulated their scheme, to which no response has been made although time has been found for angry speeches. The Government has shown no disposition to discuss the scheme with the leaders, they have not taken the people into their confidence. They have either condemned the new demands by describing them compendiously as 'catastrophic changes'—or held out threats of repression. One should have thought that wisdom lay, in other directions, in inviting the leaders to discuss the situation, in uttering words of hope to the people, in making a clear and definite declaration of policy, and laying down a definite programme of reform leading up to self-government within a certain period of time, and undertaking the work of reform to be introduced after the war. So far from doing this Government have either kept their 'counsel to themselves or simply uttered angry words. Do they realize what effect their policy is producing on the public mind? Do they know what our young men who are being blamed for keeping aloof from the Indian Defence Force, are thinking? Do they realize how difficult they are making the task of the constitutional party in India? Perhaps they do, perhaps they do not. But it is clearly the duty of public men to warn the Government against the atmosphere they are creating around them, just as much as it is their duty to tell their countrymen not to lose faith in the righteousness of their cause and not to cower before any repression, to stand by them in the hour of trial, to themselves suffer for the country and to share the sufferings of those who may be the victims of any policy of repression. For, when all is said and done, it is the moral force which has always prevailed against the physical, in the long run, and that shall be again in India.

TEJ BAHADUR SAPRU.

Allahabad, June 15.

CURES STOMACH TROUBLE OR MONEY BACK.

INSTANT RELIEF GUARANTEED.

Recently a well-known authority on the treatment of stomach troubles, who has claimed that practically all stomach trouble is due to acidity, decided to put his theory to the test. Every sufferer from stomach trouble was told to take half a teaspoonful of pure bisurated magnesia in a little water immediately after eating or whenever pain was felt. The test completely vindicated his theory, for immediate relief was indicated in each of the first hundred reports received, showing conclusively that the trouble had been due to stomach acid which, as is well known by all physicians, is instantly neutralised by bisurated magnesia. Since making known this test, the well-known chemists who have specialised in preparing pure bisurated magnesia exclusively for stomach use have arranged to place in every package of genuine bisurated magnesia a binding guarantee contract of satisfaction or money back—proof positive of their belief that nearly every so-called dyspeptic is really suffering from acidity—and their confidence that genuine bisurated magnesia will instantly neutralise stomach acid, stop food fermentation, and cure all stomach troubles caused thereby. Always look for the name "Bisurated" on the label and the guarantee contract inside the package. 8351

MRS. BESANT'S INTERNMENT.

LAHORE INDIAN ASSOCIATION'S PROTEST.

APPRECIATION OF MRS. BESANT'S DEVOTED SERVICES.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

LAHORE, June 21.

At a meeting of the Indian Association, Lahore, held on the 20th June, the following resolutions were passed on the subject of the Madras internments and the policy of repression now adopted by several heads of Governments:—

"Resolved that in the opinion of this Association the application of the Defence of India Act to the propaganda of Mrs. Annie Besant, Mr. Arundale and Mr. Wadia, was improper and against the spirit and avowed objects of the Act and this Association strongly protests against their internment. This Association puts on record its deep sense of appreciation of the devoted and disinterested services rendered by them to the cause of self-government in India.

(2) This Association views with great apprehension the attitude taken up by several heads of Local Governments against the propaganda of self-government as jointly adopted by the Indian National Congress and All-India Muslim League at their last sessions and strongly protests against their unsympathetic utterances, which are calculated to hamper the constitutional agitation which is being peacefully carried on in various parts of the country and to thwart the legitimate aspirations of the Indian people to attain self-government within the Empire.

(3) This Association puts on record its high sense of appreciation of the courageous, emphatic and patriotic declaration made by Sir Subramania Iyer with respect to his adherence to and staunch support of the Home Rule movement, and expresses its whole-hearted agreement with the views expressed by him."

(4) The above resolutions will be communicated by telegram to the Viceroy and to the press.

LUCKNOW H. R. LEAGUE'S PROTEST.

The local Home Rule League also met the same evening and passed the following resolutions:—

(1) Resolved that the Home Rule League, Lucknow, do record their deep indignation and emphatic protest against the arbitrary and aggressive application of the Defence of India Act against Mrs. Annie Besant, the illustrious President of the Home Rule League, the most devoted and selfless worker in the national cause and against her brave and energetic lieutenants, Mr. G. S. Arundale and Mr. B. P. Wadia. The League do further record their determination not to be deterred by such acts of repression from the supreme duty of carrying on national and patriotic work which their President had so nobly initiated.

(2) The Home Rule League convey their most respectful sympathy to Mrs. Besant, Mr. G. S. Arundale and Mr. B. P. Wadia and express their profound admiration for the heroic and self-sacrificing spirit with which they have worked and suffered for the cause of India's freedom.

(3) Resolved that a copy of the first resolution be transmitted to H. E. the Viceroy and H. E. the Governor of Madras and that a copy of all the resolutions be communicated to Mrs. Besant, Messrs. Arundale and Wadia and to the press.

A public meeting of protest has been arranged for Sunday, the 24th instant, at the Refah-i-am grounds, at 5-30 p.m.

SUGGESTED RESIGNATION OF COUNCIL MEMBERS.

AN UPPER INDIA LEADER'S VIEW.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

LAHORE, June 22.

The "Tribune" publishes the following letter from a correspondent who, the paper says, is well known throughout Upper India and who is held in high esteem for his public spirit:—

"Sir,—What is the most effective form of protest? I venture to suggest that our honourable members should forthwith resign their seats. If they do not do so, the public should call upon them to tender their resignations. This is a most critical period in the life of our nation and it is our clear duty to take prompt and decisive action. Protest meetings and resolutions are good in their own way, but we want something really effective, this is a well recognised method of protest and no words of mine are necessary to recommend it."

"RANGOON GAZETTE'S" COMMENTS.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

RANGOON, June 22.

In the course of a leader this morning the "Rangoon Gazette" referring to Mrs. Besant's case says any other Government in the world would have had Mrs. Besant out of India long ago. Mrs. Besant has done the greatest possible disservice to the cause of Indian Home Rule and those who support her in the attitude, which she has recently adopted, are undoing much of the good that has already been done by bringing to bear pressure on the Government of India by responsible politicians like Sir P. Sinha. No one can honestly support the attitude of Mrs. Besant.

DARJEELING SUMMER MEETINGS.

INTERESTING PROGRAMME OF LECTURE.

Summer meetings for bringing together select and earnest groups of students and thinkers for informal discussion of advanced questions in education, philosophy and sociology, were first started in 1886 by Professor Patrick Geddes, the eminent Edinburgh scientist. They have been introduced into India this year for the first time and have just come to a close at Darjeeling after a four weeks' course (21st May—16th June) attended by more than a hundred members. Darjeeling owed their organisation to Prof. and particularly to Mrs. Geddes and also to Sir J. C. Bose, who bore the brunt of their management.

These meetings have been excellent means of bringing together students, and teachers and others, both European and Indian, for the study of recent advances, in sociology and biology, in civics and education and of the current problems connected with them. They have stimulated freshness of thought and promoted co-ordination of ideas, and these between Europeans and Indians, official and non-official, towards the betterment of the country and its people. Prof. Geddes conducted the major part of the course, morning and evening, and led most of the excursions. Among the other lecturers were: Sir J. C. Bose (on the Unity of Life), Sir Ravindra Nath Tagore (on Personality in Art), Mr. J. H. Lindsay, I.C.S. (the Indian Village in Growth and Decay), Dr. C. A. Bently (Malaria in Bengal), Mr. Smith (Indian Agriculture), Prof Jadunath Sircar (the Evolution of India traced through her History), Mr. T. Aiyanger (Botany), and Mr. K. P. Basak (Child Study).

On the concluding day the audience presented an address to Prof. Geddes in token of their appreciation of all they owed to him and condoling with him in his recent sad bereavement. In the afternoon Lady Bose gave an "At Home" to the members of the Summer Meeting and Sir Rvindranath treated them to some of his finest songs.

ARMED DACOITY IN CALCUTTA.

NO ARRESTS MADE YET.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

CALCUTTA, June 22.

A dacoity is reported to have been committed on Wednesday night in a house in Belgachia section of Calcutta, occupied by a Hindu widow and some tenants. It is said that a gang of armed men entered the house and rifled the safe and decamped with cash and jewellery valued at Rs. 7,000. No arrest is reported.

The "Pioneer" understands that considering the heavy demands made upon the resources of Indian railways owing to war the railway position is as satisfactory as could reasonably be expected in the circumstances. The coal situation on the Bombay side has improved and a large amount of heavy wheat traffic has been dealt with by the North-Western line.

HIGH COURT

NURSE'S INJURIES IN A RESTAURANT.

MESSRS. MONGINI BROTHERS SUED FOR DAMAGES.

Before the Hon. Mr. Justice A. M. Kajiji, at the Bombay High Court, Blanche Edith Cates, a nurse and mid-wife, sued Messrs. Mongini Brothers, owners of the well-known public restaurant in Bombay to recover Rs. 15,000 as damages for injuries sustained by her by the fall of a fan on her hand in the defendants' restaurant.

The Hon. Mr. T. J. Strangman with Mr. J. D. Davar, instructed by Messrs. Captain and Vaidya, appeared for the plaintiff, while the Hon. Mr. M. A. Jinnah with Mr. J. B. Kanga, instructed by Messrs. Payne and Co., represented the defendants.

The plaintiff's case is that on the 4th of May 1916, the plaintiff and her daughter went to the defendants' restaurant at about 1-30 p.m., to have lunch. They took their seats as a table whereupon one of the waiters switched on the electric fan. Shortly afterwards the plaintiff asked the waiter to stop the fan and as he switched it off it fell down with the dynamo and severely injured the plaintiff. The plaintiff said that the fall of the fan must have been due to negligence for which the defendants were responsible. After she received the injuries the plaintiff was under skilled medical treatment for a month, but in spite of treatment the injury to her left hand had permanently affected her use of the left hand. All the fingers of that hand had thickened and the joints had become stiff and some of the fingers had been fractured, with the result that the plaintiff was unable to use her left hand. She (plaintiff) was thus not only incapacitated from carrying on her profession, but was further inconvenienced by being deprived of the use of her left hand. Before receiving the injuries plaintiff earned as a midwife and a nurse an annual income of about Rs. 2,000. She also said that she suffered great physical and mental pain at the time she received the injuries and for a month afterwards. Under the circumstances she claimed Rs. 15,000 for damages. She arrived at this figure as follows:—

		Rs.
1.	On account of bodily injury sustained, the pain undergone and shattering of plaintiff's health	7,500
2	On account of medical expenses incurred	300
3.	On account of pecuniary loss for not being able to carry on her profession for the rest of her life	7,200
	Total Rs. ...	15,000

DEFENDANTS DENY NEGLIGENCE.

The defendants while admitting the fall of the fan denied that it was due to any negligence on their part as alleged by the plaintiff. They said that the fall was entirely due to an accident for which they were not in any way legally liable to the plaintiff, however much they regretted the injury caused to the plaintiff's hand. The defendants said that the accident was due to some latent flaw in the material of the suspension rod which could not be seen and could not have been discovered by the exercise of due diligence and skill. Immediately after the accident the defendants sent the plaintiff with an assistant of theirs to the European General Hospital, where the plaintiff's hand was dressed and she thereafter voluntarily left the hospital to go home. The next day, after the accident the plaintiff and her husband and daughter and some other relations called at the defendant's restaurant and the plaintiff informed the defendants that her hand had been dressed and her husband told the defendant that he was not a rich man and the defendants without admitting their liability, and out of sympathy for her offered to share the medical expenses that might have been incurred by her. A week or ten days after, the plaintiff's husband called again and informed the defendants that the plaintiff was going to Uran and that she would be attended to by a doctor there. At that time the husband had a piece of paper in his hand in which there appeared certain figures which showed a total of about Rs. 220 as the expenses incurred. The defendant on that occasion offered to contribute Rs. 150 without admitting any legal liability on their part. The following evening the husband came again and asked for Rs. 3,000. The defendants told him that the amount was excessive and again offered Rs. 150 without prejudice. The offer, however, was not accepted and the husband left the place. The defendants further disputed the amount of the damages and they did not admit that her earnings were Rs. 2,000 a year as alleged by her.

They further contended that the injury to the plaintiff was not of such a nature as would incapacitate her from carrying on her profession for life and that the plaintiff had very much exaggerated her injuries.

After the issues were raised Mr. Strangman contended that the onus lay on the defendants to prove that there was no negligence.

Mr. Jinnah contended that in case of machinery etc., the onus lay on the plaintiffs to prove negligence on the defendants' part and cited Halsbury's Laws of England in support of his contention.

His Lordship held that the onus lay on the plaintiff.

PLAINTIFF EXAMINED.

The plaintiff was the first witness examined. She said that she had been a sick-nurse and midwife for the last 18 years. She then deposed to the facts of the accident and said that she was attended by Dr. De Sa and by Dr. Lafond who was in charge of the St. George's Hospital as a Surgeon in May 1916. In consequence of the injuries she had received she had to refuse confinement cases. She could not use her left hand and she was unable to handle things properly with the left hand. She made about Rs. 200 a month out of confinement cases and she used to get about Rs. 300 or Rs. 400 a year from her general practice. She had no other source of income. She had also consulted Colonel Street and one Mr. Bhimji, a bonesetter.

Cross-examined by Mr. Jinnah, the witness said that the accident had completely shattered her nerves although outwardly she appeared calm. She was 52 years old. As a result of the shock she had to take stronger glasses as her eye sight had suffered. Her practice was all at Uran and Karanja. There were wealthy salt-merchants and rich fisher-folks there. She did not pay any income-tax. Besides her fees she used to get presents from her patients. After the accident she had fre-patients after the accident she had frequent headaches. In confinement cases the left hand was more important than the right.

Dr. Lafond, who was the next witness called, deposed to the injuries which the plaintiff had received and stated that when he saw her she seemed to be in great pain. Continuing, witness said that though the state of her hand at present was better than before, still some of the fingers were stiff and he thought that there would be no further improvement. It was his opinion that she would not be able to continue her practice as a mid-wife at least without having somebody at hand to assist her.

SUGGESTED EXAMINATION OF HAND BY X-RAYS.

At this stage Mr. Jinnah stated to the Court that the defendants wanted to have the plaintiff examined by Dr. Massina by X-rays. It was impossible to say whether there was any fracture with the naked eye. He, therefore, requested that the Court would allow them to examine her by X-rays if necessary.

COL. STREET'S EVIDENCE.

Colonel Street in his examination stated that he examined the plaintiff on 22nd August last. Her left hand was suffering from certain injuries such as laceration of the index finger, the nail was torn off, and there was a general contusion of the hand and other fingers. The witness had examined her last week again. He thought that she would not be able to close her hand. The third finger would always stick out straight. The second finger which was bent at the end would not get straight. The left hand was more important in midwifery work. But for all that he thought that Mrs. Cates would be able to carry on her practice as a mid-wife, and very probably successfully. In August she was unable to practice as mid-wife. But in that condition she would be incapacitated for the time because of the wounds and not because of the stiffness. Incapacity would last for about two or three months. In the witness's hospital she would be off-duty for about two or three months.

Mr. Jinnah did not cross-examine Colonel Street.

CAUSE OF BREAKAGE OF FAN.

Mr. Higham, Assistant Electrical Engineer, Public Works Department, was the next witness called. He stated that he had examined the fan. It was an Osler fan, 230 volts, direct current, complete with four wooden blades. Thes fan weighed 50lbs. It was suspended by means of an iron gas pipe, a slot being cut diametrically along the gas pipe and a 1/8 in. split pin passed through the hole drilled diametrically in the fan shield and passed through the slot. A portion of the pipe where the slot had been cut was broken off owing to a strain being put on the metal greater than it could bear. The pipe was not of the proper thickness. The cutting of the thread had made the pipe still weaker. There was ample clearance between the split pin and the slot. The use of the slot was not commendable. He had never seen a fan with a slot like the one they had in the suit. There would be a great likelihood of breakage in a cases of fans having slots. He was not surprised to hear about the fan giving way. It was to be expected under the circumstances. The primary cause of the breakage was the thinness of the metal.

Cross-examined by Mr. Jinnah, witness said that he had passed out seven years ago. He was first employed at Messrs. Craig and Gorham's in England.

Mr. Jinnah. What was your pay?

Witness.—I object to this question. I am not prepared to answer that question.

Mr. Jinnah appealed to the Court saying that his object was to show that Mr. Higham was not an authority of weight and experience claimed for him.

His Lords' ip sked the witness to answer, the question.

Witness said that his pay at Craig and Gorham's was 36 shillings a week. At Messrs. Greaves Cotton and Co., he received Rs. 500 a month. He knew that Osler supplied fans to Government Offices. Witness was in charge of Government Office and had a supervising officer under him.

TENSION NECESSARY FOR BREAKAGE.

Continuing, witness said that he had occasion to unscrew several fans but in none of these he had found a slot. The witness was prepared to say that there were no suspension rods with a slot in the Government Offices. He had never heard that a large number of fans supplied by Oslers with suspension rods 4ft. long (same size as the fan in the suit) had slots.

Continuing, the witness said that six times the weight of the fan should be allowed as factor of safety. The witness had not applied the test and could not say what tension was necessary to pull the suspension rod (such as was in the suit) as under from the motor. He knew Spragne's the manufacturers of electric fans. They were Germans.

Mr. Jinnah:—As a matter of fact they are not Germans?

Witness:— I am very glad to hear that; as some of the Government offices have got their fans.

Mr. Jinnah:—If I am instructed to say that a large number of fans by Spragne and Osler with slots are in Government [illegible] you prepared to contradict it?

Witness.—I have not seen them, so I cannot contradict that.

Continuing, the witness said he thought that a fan with a hole and pin was much stronger than a fan with a slot. He had no idea why some manufacturers should have slots in the rod instead of holes. He would call a fan such as they had in the suit, not a reasonably safe one for a man to use because the metal of the rod was too thin. That was the primary cause. He was not aware that General Electric Co. was the same as Spragne's Electric Co. Mr. Coise of Messrs. Jost and Co. then gave evidence.

The case is proceeding.

MOTOR LORRY DRIVER FINEDFOS RASHNESS.

Before the Chief Presidency Magistrate at the Esplanade Police Court Inspector Sheehy charged Abdul Raheman Affa with driving motor lorry No. 199 in a rash and negligent manner on the 13th May, 1917. Mr. D. J. Registrar defended. It was stated for the prosecution that the accused was driving his lorry in a rash manner from Colaba Cotton Green.

The accused denied having driven the car on the evening in question, as he was only driving in the mornings.

The Magistrate disbelieved the accused's defence and convicted and sentenced him to pay a fine of Rs. 25.

AN INCIDENT ON TRAMCAR.

APOLOGY TENDERED TO CONDUCTOR.

Before the Chief Presidency Magistrate Ramchandra Baburao, tram conductor No. 263, charged R. S. Prettyjohns, representative of Shalebhoy Tyabji and Co., Government Contractors, with insult and assault. Mr. B. J. Dhondy appeared for the complainant.

The complainant's case was that the accused boarded a car at 2 p.m. on the 6th instant at Fort Market, Alexandra Docks, and lighted a cigar. The complainant asked for his fare, when Prettyjohns burned him with the cigar, and when the complainant remonstrated with the accused the latter began to laugh at him. The complainant thereupon told the accused either to pay the fare or to leave the car, when Prettyjohns slapped him.

The defence was the conductor was insolent to him, and that the accused told him that if he touched the cigar he would be burnt. The complainant then rushed at him with his punching instrument, and the accused struck him.

The accused tendered an apology and paid Rs. 3 to the complainant as compensation, with Re. 1/8 as court costs.

SENTENCE ON A POLICE HEAD CONSTABLE.

ABSCONDS WITH RAMOSIS' DEPOSITS

Before Mr. G. R. Khairaz at the Esplanade Police Court, Inspector S. R. Patwardhan of the C.I.D. charged Shanker Vasudev Pathak, head constable who was serving as a writer at the Head Police Office, with criminal breach of trust in respect of Rs. 560. The prosecution stated that the accused was in charge of the deposits kept by the Ramosis, and he absconded from Bombay on March 3rd, after misappropriating the sum. He was afterwards arrested at Shirol by Inspector Patwardhan. The accused, who pleaded guilty to the charge, was sentenced to six months' rigorous imprisonment.

ALLEGED CRIMINAL TRESPASS AND INTIMIDATION.

In the Court of the Third Presidency Magistrate, the case in which Jamnadas Vijbhukhandas was charged by Mohanlal Nandlal with criminal trespass and intimidation was called on Thursday. Mr. H. P. Dastur, Bar-at-Law, with Mr. Kanga, Solicitor, appeared on behalf of the complainant while Mr. Balubhai T. Desai defended the accused. The complainant's story was that the accused came to his place on the 4th instant at night and demanded from him monies which the complainant refused to pay. He then threatened to assault the complainant and intimidated him and created a scene. Hence the present case. On the intervention of mutual friends and relations and on the accused giving an undertaking before the Court not molest the complainant or his wife in future the case was compounded.

THE PRICE OF FRESNOY.

HINDENBURG'S PYRRHIC GAIN.

APPALLING COST IN MEN.

Writing from the British Front on May, the correspondent of the "Morning Post" says:—

The enemy has no reason to be greatly elated over the recapture of Fresnoy. It required three of his divisions to remove this sharp salient from our front, and they suffered heavily for their pains. This concentration was supported by all the German artillery around Lens and indeed every available gun north of the Scarpe, and the superhuman effort thus made yielded a strip of ground of, perhaps, 500 yards' frontage, embracing the shattered wood and the cellars of some cottages.

There were two infantry attacks, the first at dawn, and the second about nine o'clock, made by troops of the Fifteenth Reserve Division—which held the line at Fresnoy—reinforced by the First Guards Reserve Division, which was sideslipped from Oppy for that purpose. The German heavy batteries, which had been removed very far back, bombarded our positions heavily with gas shells, which they have been using very sparingly heretofore because of the limited supply. The infantry came against Fresnoy in dense columns, but was unable to do more than gain a foothold in our position The fighting continued for several hours, and we had succeeded in taking some prisoners when the Fifth Bavarian Division drove through the other troops, and against this fresh force we fell back to the outskirts of Fresnoy Wood. The Bavarians, who are first-class troops, were brought into the line a few days ago. Last night we counter-attacked and reoccupied the corner of Fresnoy Wood, and this line is firmly held.

NO ATTACK YESTERDAY.

The enemy bombarded the position heavily to-day, but did not attempt a further advance. In a battle of this sort the line may swing forward and back at more than one place without the enemy having regained any material advantage—momentary reverses are the inevitable feature of such an extended operation—and our troops are in no wise disheartened by the retirement, for they know—as all of us know—that they are the better men. One never hears of such individual acts of bravery on the part of the enemy as those which marked the taking of Fresnoy by the Dominion battalions last Thursday. I have been told many incidents of their heroism. One Canadian lad dashed through the German barrage alone and bombed the crew of a machine-gun which was playing against our advancing troops. Another picked up a live bomb which fell at his feet and hurled it back into the machine-gun emplacement, destroying the hidden occupants and saving the lives of his comrades. The Canadians have had hard training with grenades and Lewis guns, and they know how to use the bayonet, as one detachment did when dashing through two barrages—the enemy's and their own—they dropped into a German trench and killed with the cold steel all the men they found there.

LENS AS A FORTRESS.

Everywhere behind the Arras battle front the Germans are still labouring on their temporary defences in front of the Drocourt line. They have even been forcing French civilians to work in the ruins of Lens concreting a great network of galleries and rooms, which form almost as extensive a labyrinth as the subterranean passages of Arras. Even the cellars of the town and of the mining villages round about are being concreted as a protection against our guns.

On their part the German guns are hammering nervously at our front. From Lens to Bullecourt there have been liberal bombardments, apparently due to the fear that further encroachments may be made on the German line by our refreshed divisions. Encouraged by their unexpected success in recapturing Fresnoy the German Staff exposed more infantry concentrations to our guns in the hope that they might get a foothold in the other lost ground—and they failed again. Near Gavrelle Windmill and also around Arleux these massed "storming troops" were cut to pieces by the British shell. Complete observation of all enemy movements renders all such attempts at counter-attack doubly dangerous. The men must form up in the open or under the insufficient cover of the shredded woods or ruined villages, and our observers can lay their batteries without a moment's delay.

Elsewhere on the battlefield of the three rivers the German gunners distributed their wares with unwonted prodigality. They barraged our Bullecourt front most of the night, although here again their infantry did not dare leave their trenches, and swept both sides of the Scarpe and the adjacent territory from dusk until dawn. They do not believe for a moment that the British effort has been spent, whatever the writers of their romantic communiques may say to the contrary. Bullecourt continues to give them great concern. The ownership of the village is divided, but although they still hold the greater part its possession is not a matter for rejoicing.

LONDON MEN RESCUED.

In our last successful attack, which brought the south-east corner of it into the British line, we rescued ten London men who had been prisoners there since the previous fighting on May 3. I have not yet been able to get their story, but I know that they had exciting and adventurous experiences within the enemy's lines.

The fighting around Bullecourt has been "scientific warfare" of the kind introduced by the Germans just two years ago. Flame machines and gas shells have been used freely, and the enemy must have reason to regret that he ever added these destructive elements to the equipment of a modern army. He is in deadly fear of the new British gas shell. Prisoners speak of the heavy casualties which are caused, even when masks are worn. I heard of one shell which exploded in a crowded dug-out, the fumes of which killed all the occupants despite their protective coverings. In one battalion at Bullecourt it is reported that 80 men died and 150 were sent to hospital suffering from gas poisoning, and there were nearly half as many casualties in another battalion. The regiments holding the Bullecourt area have lost heavily also in other ways. The divisional assault detachment of one division, which counter-attacked from the village at night with flame machines, was beaten back by our machine-guns and artillery, leaving many dead on the field. The Grenadiers and other Guards Regiments, notably the famous Lehr Regiment, which attacked across the open, never got into our positions, so terrible was the concentrated barrage of our machine-gun batteries.

NEW ENEMY DEVICES.

The Germans tried several new devices in the fighting around Bullecourt. During one of our bombing attacks, when we gained the new strip of the Hindenburg line, they mounted a machine-gun behind their bombers to deal exclusively with our carriers. This gun swept the trenches in the rear of the British bombers, temporarily delaying their advance until it was destroyed. The enemy was able to retake the trench which we held, but a fresh attack brought it back into our hands within half an hour.

The new Hindenburg line in this region and the villages behind afford unusual shelter from bombardment. A great tunnel runs beneath the Hindenburg line now in our possession and doubtless extends under the remainder still in enemy hands. It is sufficiently high and wide to permit reinforcements to be moved quickly from one part of the trenches to another. At Riencourt, behind Bullecourt, are a series of catacombs which, I believe, date from mediaeval times, and the rooms and galleries which they include could accommodate at least six battalions of infantry. The completed Hindenburg line around Bullecourt and Queant is fitted with many large dug-outs similar to those at Gommecourt and Thiepval, and the enemy is still adding to this chain of shelters. He needs them. Our artillery keeps breaking down the banks and wire around Bullecourt and plastering the trenches in front of the village, at the same time laying such a heavy fire across the back area that the Germans cannot continue working the new switch line, which is intended to give them communication with Quéant if they are driven out of the Bullecourt salient.

PRISONERS AGREEABLY SURPRISED.

The latest batch of prisoners from Bullecourt, men of the 207th Division, expressed great dissatisfaction with the leadership of their officers, who placed excessive responsibility on the sergeants. These men impressed me as being superior, both in physique and training, to the prisoners captured in this area a few weeks ago. When I saw them yesterday morning lined up inside a barricade of German barbed wire they looked slightly apprehensive, for none of them was able to understand the meaning of certain preparations within the cage. Two British officers were walking slowly along the line, carefully inspecting each man. Sentries with fixed bayonets followed behind, and other soldiers stood around a black metal tank, not unlike a small coffin in appearance, that had been placed in the centre of the enclosure.

The prisoners stared alternately at the officers and at the tank, with an anxious expression that in some cases bordered on fright. The sentry took a square-headed German at the end of the line by his shoulders and swung him around with a gesture that signified that he was to walk past the tank, and that the others were to follow. They advanced dismally enough. Some of the prisoners were bareheaded in the rain, and all of them were very unkempt after the constant fighting in the front line. A soldier lifted up the lid of the tank. Then I saw a smile struggle through the grime of the first German's unshaven face, and it spread gradually down the line as the men came abreast of the steaming cauldron and were served with soup and biscuits.

ENEMY'S ECONOMIES.

Economy is still being preached to all ranks in the German Army. It not only includes the husbanding of shells and the sparing use of guns wherever the front is quiet, but rigid supervision of all other equipment and stores. The Sixth Army, which holds the Arras-Lens battle front, has enjoined upon its medical services the strictest economy in the use of instruments, medicines, bandages, and veterinary appliances. Waste of old metal is condemned in another sector. Artillery officers are saddled with worn-out guns at some parts of the line, and I have been told of accidents, resulting in the death of German infantry by their own shell, owing to the continuance in action of inaccurate ordnance. There is not as yet any apparent shortage of enemy ammunition, but I believe the German authorities realise that it will be impossible to continue indefinitely the present output of guns and shells, while the growing scarcity of certain drugs gives them grave concern for the maintenance of hospitals in the field.

FOOD SCARCITY.

The food economy could not be more severe. The latest order, which reduced the bread rations from April 15 to one loaf for three men per day, has caused more anguish in the German lines than any other recent sacrifice entailed by the campaign. Prisoners are frank in discussing the increased shortage and its depressing effect on the troops. The following passages are from letters written by men of infantry regiments who have recently been taken prisoners: "To-day is Sunday but it is no Sunday for us. This afternoon 25 English airmen were over us. Violent artillery fire all the afternoon: We get one pound of bread per day, and dinner is bad and scanty." "Every day we have to repel English attacks." Wrote another on the 23rd: "We are badly fed, especially as regards bread, but it is supposed to be going to improve." "Things are very bad for all of us," wrote a prisoner on the 22nd, "for we only get one pound of bread a day, and then we have to dig away and lie amid mud and shellfire, but what can we do? Nothing but stick it." One of his comrades wrote on the previous day: "We have been in the line since the 17th, and there is very little to look forward to. We shall soon have to retire again, for the English are close upon us, and this afternoon have smashed up our wire entanglements." The necessity of economy has extended in the combing-out process in Germany, and prisoners and convicts have been brought to the Western front. One of the prisoners captured recently was a Pole who had been sentenced to six years' penal servitude for striking an officer and shooting a non-commissioned officer, and who was released last October after serving only two years. Another soldier had been sentenced to fifteen years' penal servitude for shooting his company commander, and was released for service at the front after spending nine months in prison.

KIN BEYOND SEAS.

MR. GLADSTONE ON ANGLO-AMERICAN UNITY.

The mission of Mr. Balfour to the United States and the enthusiasm which marked his reception by Congress by the people at large, writes Mr. J. G. Swift MacNeill, M.P. in the "Pall Mall Gazette," have attracted a world-wide attention. The distinguished British statesman who is now Secretary for Foreign Affairs has filled many great offices of State, including that of Prime Minister, has set his heart on promoting good-will, complete understanding, and sympathy between Great Britain and America. He has had a cordial response from the American people, who are themselves proud of their associations with Great Britain.

Mr. Balfour, more than a generation ago, was anticipated in his elevating work by another great British statesman, to whom it may perhaps be not unbecoming for me, as an Irishman to say, belongs the great achievement by his endeavour to effect an appeasement between Great Britain and Ireland by bringing a real Anglo-American Alliance into existence. Mr. Gladstone, whose Irish policy has paved the way for the friendship between Great Britain and America, in September, 1878, after he had completed his first Premiership, wrote in the comparative leisure which freedom from the cares of office ensures an article in the "North American Review," entitled "Kin Beyond Seas," with the excellent object of explaining and expounding British institutions to the American public. In this article, which is now all but forgotten, and, so far as I am aware, unnoticed in his biography, Mr. Gladstone has, like Mr. Balfour, dwelt on the links which must prevail to join America and Great Britain in the very closest political and social intimacy. A few passages from this article at whose head are placed the lines:—

> When love unites, wide space divides in vain,
> And hands may clasp across the spreading main will perhaps awaken interest from their relevancy to the present situation, although written very nearly forty years ago.

BRITAIN'S ELDEST BORN.

Touching on a subject which, in the words of Mr. Gladstone,

"Lies within the tranquil domain of political philosophy," he says: "The students of the future in this department will have much to say in way of comparison between American and British institutions. The relationship between these two is unique in history. It is always interesting to trace and to compare Constitutions, as it is to compare languages, especially in such instances as those of the Greek States and the Italian Republics, or the mummified forms of the feudal system in the different countries of Europe. But there is no parallel in all the records of the world to the case of that prolific British mother, who has sent forth her innumerable children over all the earth to be the founders of half a dozen Empires. She, with her progeny, may almost claim to constitute a kind of Universal Church in politics. But among these children there is one whose place in the world's eye and in history is superlative; it is the American Republic. She is the eldest born."

Mr. Gladstone observes that "in many and most fundamental respects the United States and Great Britain still carry, undiminished, perhaps in increasing clearness, the notes of resemblance that beseem a parent and a child," and thus states and explains these notes of resemblance:—

"Both wish for self-government, and however grave the drawbacks under which in one or both it exists, the two have among the great nations of the world made the most effectual advances towards the true aim of national politics. They are similarly associated in their fixed idea that the force in which all government takes effect is to be constantly backed, and, as it were, illuminated in speech and writing. The ruler of St. Paul's time bore the sword (Rom. xiii. 4). Bore it, as the Apostle says, with a mission to do right, but he says nothing of any duty or any custom to show by reason that he was doing right. Our two Governments, whatsoever they do, have to give reasons for it, not reasons which will convince the unreasonable, but reasons which will convince the average mind, and carry it untedly forward in a course of action, often though not always, wise, and carrying within itself provisions when it is unwise for the correction of its own unwisdom before it grows into an intolerable rankness. They are Governments, not of fear only, but of persuasion."

TWO PEOPLES—A COMPARISON.

This exposition of Mr. Gladstone admirably illustrates the conduct of Great Britain and the United States in relation to the war and the desire of the Governments of both countries to carry their people with them at every step.

"Many more are the concords," Mr. Gladstone writes, "and not less vital than those of the two nations as expressed in their institutions. They alike prefer the practical to the abstract. They tolerate opinion with only a reserve on behalf of decency, and they desire to confine coercion to the province of action, and to have thought as such entirely free. They set a high value on liberty for its own sake. They desire to give full scope to the principles of self-reliance in the people, and they deem self-help to be immeasurably superior to help in any other form; to be the only help, in short, which ought not to be continually or periodically put upon its trial or required to make good its title. They mistrust and mislike the centralisation of power, and they cherish municipal, local, even parochial, liberties as nursery grounds not only for the production here and there of able men, but for the general training of public virtue and independent spirit. They regard publicity as the vital air of politics, through which alone in its freest circulation, opinions can be thrown into common stock for the good of all and the balance of relative rights claims can be habitually and peaceably adjusted. It would be difficult in the case of any other pair of nations to present an assemblage of traits at once so common and so ditinctive as has been given in this probably imperfect enumeration."

Mr. Gladstone's words, as a voice from the grave, are calculated to thrill the hearts of the great English speaking nations at either side of the Atlantic. It is pleasant to remember that the great British champion of the rights and liberties of small nationalities wrote so brightly of the genius and temperament of the people of United States, and found in that genius and temperament so many latent harmonies with the trend of thought and character of the people of Great Britain.

Fame.

Dunlop has not yet attained what is said to be man's highest ambition—i.e., to appear in a "Punch" cartoon, but—one never can tell.

Meanwhile, it is no small compliment to Dunlop as an advertising figure that he should be the subject of the first caricature of a series just commenced in "Hello!"—"London Opinion's" new house organ.

The success of the attempt can be judged by reference to the inset of the original figure, which, in turn, is a development of our Trade Mark.

Incidentally, it may not be generally known that Mr. J. B. Dunlop, the Inventor of the Pneumatic Tyre, is still living and resident in Dublin.

THE LATEST ADVANCE IN OPTICAL SCIENCE.

THE NEW COLOURLESS

"CROOKES GLASS"

Produced from Scientific Research
Made by
SIR WILLIAM CROOKES, F.R.S.

Prevents Sun-Glare and Eye-strain without diminishing the light or altering colour values.

It has been demonstrated by eminent scientists that the Eye-fatigue experienced in bright sunlight is not due to the actual amount of light but to the presence of certain rays termed the "ULTRA-VIOLET" or "Actinic" rays which are invisible to the comparatively limited range of Human vision.

For years past various tinted glasses have been used to prevent these "ULTRA-VIOLET" radiations from entering the eye

These tinted glasses, however, have all more or less altered the colour of objects viewed though them.

The new CROOKES glass, diluted with metallic oxides which has been discovered by Sir William Crookes, F.R.S. is practically COLOURLESS and gives perfectly clear vision while protecting the sight from Tropical Sun-Glare.

VIRILITY TELLS

more than anything in the present-day conditions and to win anything like success a man must be absolutely fit and well, otherwise he cannot stand the constant physical and mental strain of modern business life. However, there are so many existing ailments and physical imperfections that tend to lower a man's power to "keep going," that very few can say they are really fit.

The "physically perfect" are very few and far between and to these this offer is of no interest, but to the many sufferers handicapped by Functional Weakness, Exhaustion and Debility, we offer our descriptive Booklet—FREE.

This booklet describes the aim and object of Erectruss, the latest mechanical device for the treatment of Functional Weakness, Exhaustion and Debility "without drugs."

This treatment is the practical application of Dr. Bier's Principle of "Obstructive Hyperaemia" which simply means retarding the return of blood from a part of the body for a desired period, thus creating an excessive accumulation of blood in the diseased part. The blood is acknowledged to be the finest possible curative agent, so the advantages of this method over drugs are apparent.

Don't waste time and money on ineffective and obsolete treatments when you can buy an Erectruss complete for Rs. 15 (plus postage and packing).

Send for the booklet to-day, read the testimonials from medical men and others and you will want an Erectruss for yourself. Address to ERECTRUSS (B. C.) SOLE AGENCY for the EAST, BATALA (India).
